Wednesday Challenge Form

Group Members: Half the Class

Problem Statement: Everyone in your group has a tube now you need to sit and throw your tube to the person next to you and catch the tube that is thrown to you if someone drops their tube start over. If you succeed at the first task then stand and do the same thing standing. If your group successfully completes the previous challenge then remain standing and throw your tube to every other person. If someone drops their tube while doing this the whole group must start from the beginning.

Approach: Our groups approach was to just do it over and over again until we were used to catching the tubes. We got really good at throwing it to the person next to us but had a lot of trouble with throwing to every other person.

Solution: Our solution was our approach however we ended up failing.

Lessons Learned: we should practice the hard one first and then do the easy ones
